LOGLINE

After an ominous snag in their plans for a weekend of fun, a couple's lives are changed forever.

SYNOPSIS

Nathan, a nervous wreck, is both excited and terrified while embarking on a weekend camping trip with the girl of his dreams (Amber). When Amber goes missing in the woods, an adrenaline-fueled Nathan boldly decides he must search for her. While venturing deeper and deeper into the woods, he becomes increasingly certain that someone else may be in the woods with him.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

What ultimately became Turn Around was a premise for a short film that I had been toying around with for over a year before it became a serious project. Looking back on all the changes it's gone through over the course of it's existence makes me happy that it got produced when it did. It really feels like all the pieces just fell together at the perfect time. The entire cast was awesome to work with - it was remarkable seeing these characters brought to life by such a talented group! I can honestly say out of all the projects I've worked on, Turn Around was easily one of the most enjoyable experiences on set. Out of everything, however, what I'm the most proud of is the way everyone pushed themselves. Doing a project like this was ambitious but still everybody involved went above and beyond as far as I'm concerned.

Director of "Turn Around"

PRODUCER'S STATEMENT

Turn Around represents a truly dynamic intersection between two companies and their individual strengths. From its inception, the goal of D&O Studios has been to support entertaining and artful film content through the business of creating cinematic media for local businesses. I've known director Luke Ostermiller for most of my life and both his dedication to the craft of film making and his daring entrepreneurship made it an easy choice for D&O Studios Inc. and Lose Films, LLC merge into one, cohesive company. Using each other's strengths, we have come together to create an ambitious project that would have been impossible to create separately. I, for one, could not be more happy with the project that is unfolding before our eyes and I cannot wait for our audience to experience our engaging story!

Producer of "Turn Around"
